GORIOT . EL and La Addition

apparemment « ne lui aurait laissé que ses yeux pour pleurer » et la pension. Elle se fait aussi passer pour aussi misérable que ses pensionnaires même si elle serait plus riche. Elle habite au premier étage, qui contenait les deux meilleurs appartements, seulement elle habite le moins considérable.

La grosse Sylvie: Elle est la cuisinière de la pension Vauquer.

Christophe: Il est l'homme à tout faire de la pension.

Madame Couture et Victorine Taillefer: Ces deux dames habitent dans l'autre appartement du 1er étage, le meilleur. Madame Couture est une veuve d'un Commissaire-Ordonnateur de la République française et elle sert de mère à Victorine Taillefer qui est une jeune fille dont le père l'a déshéritée, car il refuse de la reconnaître au profit du frère de celle-ci.

Monsieur Poiret: Il vit au second étage. C'est un vieillard pitoyable, décrit comme ennuyeux au possible. Il livrera avec Michonneau Vautrin.

Monsieur Vautrin: Il vit au second étage. Son vrai nom est Jacques Collin, aussi connu sous le surnom de Trompe-la-Mort, criminel notoire et ancien forçat évadé du Bagne de Toulon, qui a été condamné pour un faux commis par un autre. Depuis 1815, il se cache à Paris sous le nom de Vautrin. Il est (probablement) trahi par un ancien camarade du bagne, surnommé Fil-de-Soie. À l'aide de Mile Michonneau, qui découvre la marque « T.F. » sur l'épaule de Vautrin, on peut l'arrêter et l'envoyer au Bagne de Rochefort.

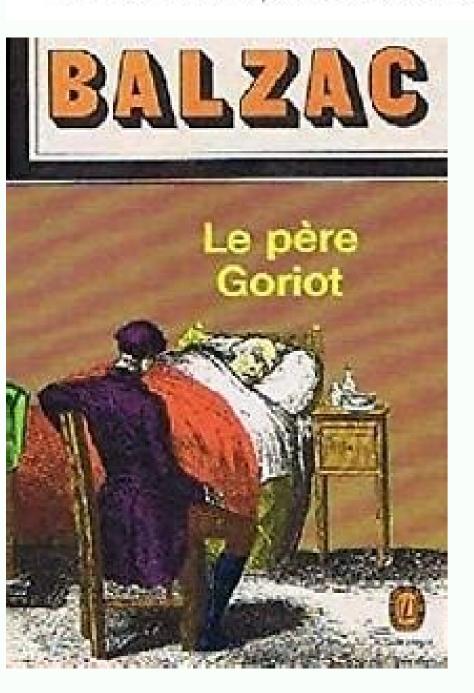

Mademoiselle Michonneau: Elle vit au troisième étage. C'est une vieille fille qui est décrite comme très maigre, mais qui a dû posséder une certaine beauté durant sa jeunesse. On ne sait pas grand-chose sur son passé (courtisane, amante délaissée...) qui aurait pu lui valoir ce physique peu avenant, mais qui garde les traces d'une ancienne beauté. Elle dit avoir pris soin d'un vieux monsieur qui lui aurait laissé 1000 franc de rente. Par appăt du gain, elle livrera avec Poiret (qui semble être amoureux d'elle) Vautrin au policier Gondureau.

Le père Goriot: Il vit au troisième étage. C'est un ancien vermicellier, fabricant de pâtes d'Italie et d'amidon. Il est méprisé et ridiculisé par les autres pensionnaires. Cependant, il se liera d'amitié avec Eugène et favorisera même son histoire d'amour avec Delphine, sa fille cadette. Il est le père d'Anastasie (devenue comtesse de Restaud) et de Delphine (devenu la femme du banquier baron de Nucingen). Ils aiment passionnément ses filles au point de liquider toute sa fortune et vivre dans la misère pour leurs caprices et fantaisies sans qu'elles aient la moindre reconnaissance pour lui.

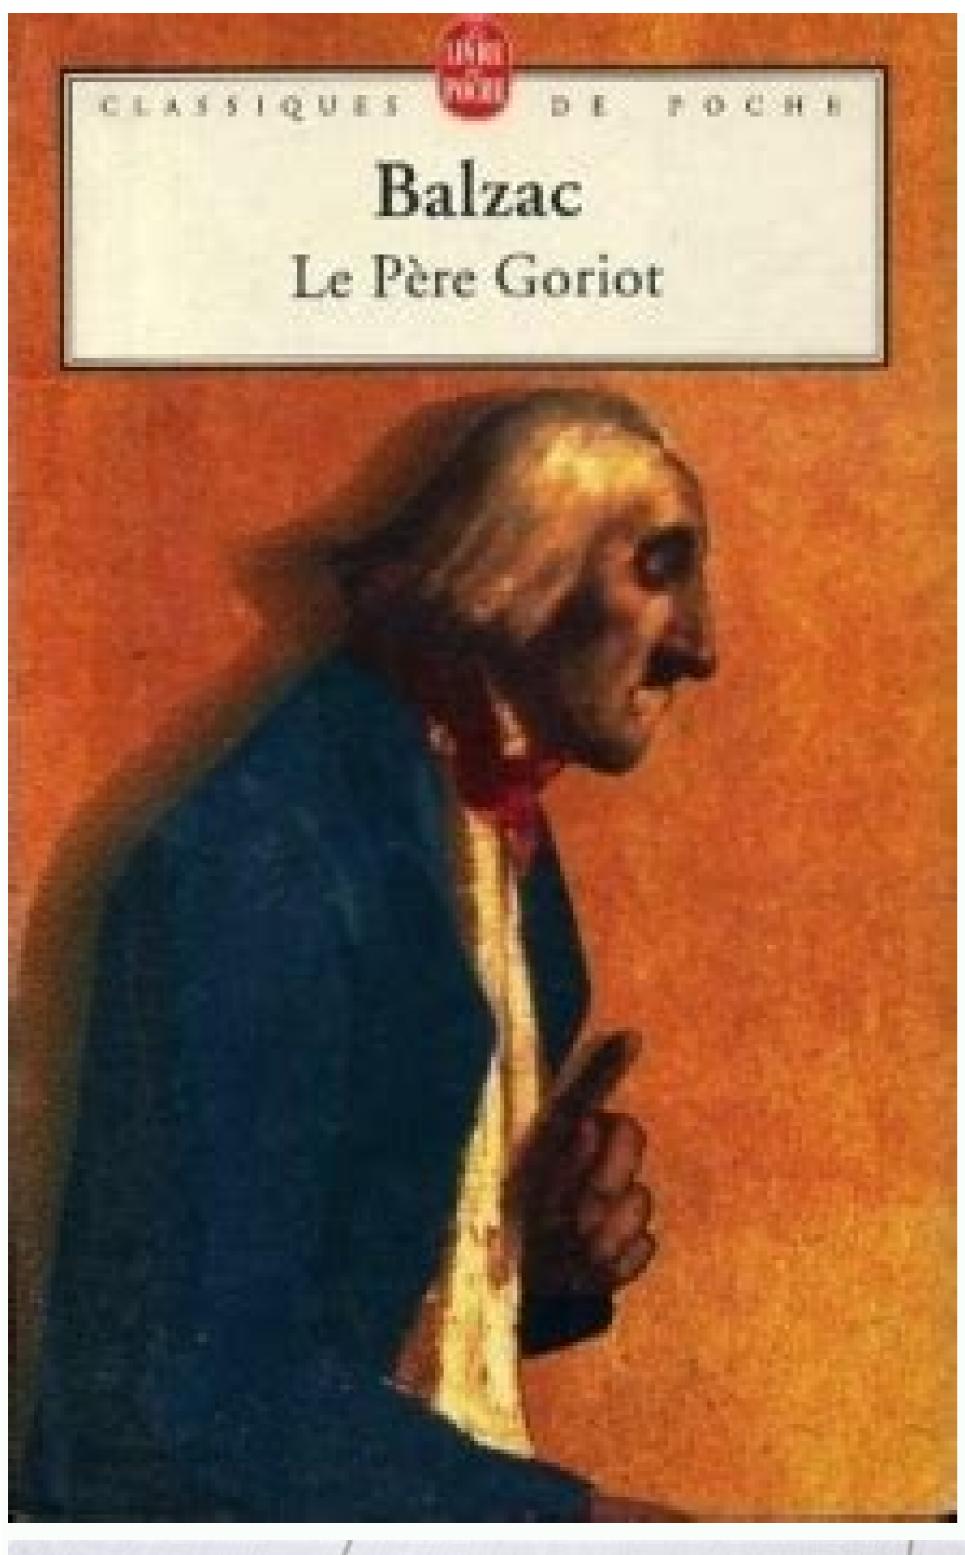

Eugène de Rastignac: Il vit au troisième étage. Il vient d'une famille aristocratique de campagne, de Charente pour étudier le droit à Paris. Sa famille fait beaucoup de sacrifices pour qu'il puisse arriver dans la vie. À la maison Vauquer, rue Neuve-Sainte-Geneviève, il rencontre Jacques Collin, alias Vautrin, qui excite ses mauvais penchants. Toutefois Rastignac, ambitieux (on pourrait même dire calculateur et opportuniste) mais humain (il est toujours déchire entre son ambition et ses valeurs), ne suit pas jusqu'au bout les conseils criminels de Jacques Collin. Ami d'Horace Bianchon (médecin), il aime une fille du père Goriot, Delphine de Nucingen.

Horace Bianchon: Il vit au troisième étage. Il est étudiant en médecine et ami de Rastignac.

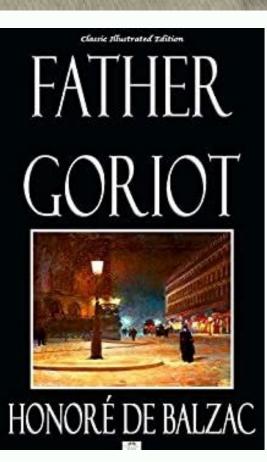

22Anastasie de Restaud: Fille aînée du père Goriot qu'elle a pratiquement renié, est la maîtresse de Maxime 6 de Trailles dont elle paie les dettes à Gobseck. Rastignac jette son dévolu sur elle avant de devenir l'amant
